

Bari J.

For Immediate Release

May 18, 2005

“Whimsical Arm-Candy,” and we’re not talking about your date for the evening. That’s what people are saying about these chic and absolutely fabulous handbags by Bari J.

Madison & Mulholland, the leading goodie bag company in the world, has included Bari J. handbags along with other fashionable, high-end products in their New Products/Beauty Bags. These bags have been delivered to top fashion and beauty editors of national publications. Jane Ubell-Meyer of Madison & Mulholland (creator of the recent, limited-edition ULTIMATE NOMINEE Goodie Bag for the American Pavilion Cannes 2005) has featured Bari J.’s latest line, Traditions, on their web site as a favorite spring find: <http://www.madisonandmulholland.com/beauty.htm>.

“Bari J is the kind of designer we love to discover. She understands and translates the link between fashion-forward and retro chic,” explains Ubell-Meyer, editor in chief. “Her fall collection will continue to surprise and delight her loyal following.”

About the Designer

Raised in Chicago, Bari J. Ackerman (the J, for Jill), has always had a passion for art, theatre, and antiques. This veritable color junkie not only creates handbags and their accessories (which are soon to be all over San Francisco’s hippest boutiques), she makes jewelry and collage using found pieces.

About Bari J. Handbags & Accessories

Each Bari J. Handbag comes with a lovely fabric boutonniere topped with a unique vintage button or a scrumptious scarf to accessorize your bag. You can get your Bari J. Handbag online or at trendy 560 Main in Pleasanton, California.

For ordering, please visit www.barijonline.com or call 925.785.5469.

For press inquiries, please contact:

Michelle de Grasse

Publicist

mdg@publicist.com

415.505.8497